We have many years of experience in building connections within groups of people through laughter, creative practice and story.

Participants from a leading bank said;

*"Anthill made it ok to be out of my comfort zone and take a few risks"
"I was impressed with the full on participation by everyone"*

Anthill programs are infused with laughter and energy.

We can design short energizer events or a full day program. We believe that creativity is a vital element in any workplace and employee. Theatre, Improvisation and storytelling techniques, lie at the heart of the Anthill CKD method. Our programs quickly engage participants in exercises designed to get them to interact and engage with each other, take creative risks in a safe context and break through the inhibitions that can hinder optimal performance. All this is accomplished within the context of positive and creative practice, providing nourishment for teams and organizations that is both invigorating and productive.

"The challenge for any company is to create as much meaning for their employees as financial benefits. Forget unlimited expenses. Fun, engagement and purpose represent the new rewards."
Pat Kane

Our Creativity and Team building programs:

- Stimulate lateral thinking
- Enliven the team building process within a creative, energetic and playful environment
- Create new possibilities with your work colleagues, your projects and yourself
- Improve management and communication functioning
- Inspire new connections that will bring lasting change
- Broaden the possibilities with the proposal and development process
- Celebrate achievements and milestones with fun and laughter

Consider our creativity and Team Building programs to:

- Enliven corporate retreats – A completely new way of interacting can sometimes be the oil that gets wheels turning
- Gain new perspectives - Sometimes it is only by playing with something, with no apparent outcome but enjoyment, that we can see it in a new way.
- Create better relationships - Workmates who can laugh and play with each other will communicate better and work together more efficiently.
- Change the pace – Take away the power-point system and bring on the creative interaction at your next staff event
- Generate new ideas – If the next AGM agenda looks a little uninspiring, we can get the creative juices flowing and get people talking in a new and uninhibited way.
- Destress - Do you work in a high stress environment and sometimes wish that you could get to know your colleagues in a different light?
